

Professional Development Is Important... For Emergency Management and Their Partners

The Governor's Hurricane Conference extends its appreciation to Disasters, Strategies, & Ideas Group, LLC and PBS&J for their support and financial contribution to provide professional development credit hours to emergency management professionals and their partners. Below are categories of professional development and their respective credits:

Professional Emergency Management Certification FEMA Certified G-Series, L-Series and P-Series training sessions – based on length of session	PIOs - Public Relations Society of America (PRSA) TS CP1. Basic PIO and TS CP2. JIC and Risk Communication – 4 points All other CP sessions/workshops – 1 point
APA Planners (AICP) More than 200 CM credits are pending for 20 planning-related training sessions as well as 15 AICP CM for the conference itself. See www.planning.org for details.	Certified Floodplain Managers The Association of State Floodplain Managers (ASFM) will award up to 12 Continuing Education Credits (CECs) for attending either the NFIP training courses or the conference itself.

Thanks again to our underwriters who help make the Governor's Hurricane Conference the premier training opportunity in the state!

"DSI is committed to fostering preparedness activities within the Emergency Management community because we believe in the philosophy 'you play like you practice.'"

"It is critical that we not only recognize the importance of planning in emergency management but the equally compelling role of emergency management in the field of planning. Nowhere is this more evident than the State of Florida."